University Scholars Program

Are you interested in cancer research?

The UFHCC University Scholars Program provides opportunities for highly motivated and talented undergraduate students to develop skills as young scientists and to explore their interest in cancer research. The Program is designed to provide research experience and training in areas of basic and translational cancer research, cancer prevention, diagnostics, epidemiology and therapeutics. Students with a desire to pursue graduate education and research careers in biomedical sciences are encouraged to apply. Selected participants may be eligible for a stipend of up to $1,750.

Eligibility
• Students who are in their freshman, sophomore or junior year at the time of application are eligible for consideration.
  • Students who will be graduating before May 2019 are not eligible to apply.
• Participants will be required to dedicate 8-10 hours per week to research from September 2019 to May 2020.
